

More Than A Protest

Nonviolence Training Workshops, March 16th & 17th, 2018

Applications required and are due February 25th; participants notified by March 5th. Workshop spaces are limited and will be hosted at Pres House (731 State St., Madison, WI 53703).

We are called to "love our enemies" while standing up for justice. This requires serious training and spiritual discipline. These workshops will help equip and prepare people for the hard work ahead.

Led by trainers from Eastpoint Peace Academy and based in Kingian Nonviolence philosophy, we will engage in conversations, practice role-plays and study current and historical movements to:

- Explore several different campaign and movement building frameworks
- Learn how to create pressure and leverage through direct actions
- Learn how to utilize that leverage to get us closer to a goal
- Understand the difference between tactics, strategies and goals
- Explore key concepts and tools such as power mapping, spectrum of allies and pillars of support
- And much more

Whether you are new to organizing and want to understand how to do it better, have some experience and want to brush up some skills, or a veteran activist with wisdom to share, we need you now!!!

Community Leaders Workshop, Friday, March 16th, 5:00 - 9:00 PM

This workshop is designed for community leaders who have influence over groups of people (i.e., clergy, faculty/staff, directors, etc.), so that they can help equip people in their networks with resources for this kind of work. Community leaders will be invited to attend the all-day training on Saturday, March 17th, but we ask that they come in the stance of observers so students remain the primary focus.
